

The Latin American Society for the History of Economic Thought (ALAHPE) was created in 2015. It is a non-profit academic organization dedicated to promoting teaching, research and the dissemination of knowledge related to the history of economics in Latin America.

Every two years, ALAHPE promotes the Latin American Conference on the History of Economic Thought, which quickly established itself as the main forum for academic exchange between scholars working in the region. The association is also responsible for organizing a summer school dedicated to young researchers with an interest in the field. The 2022 conference is hosted by Facultad Ciencias Económicas y de Administración, Universidad de la República.
